

Clinical Trials Insurance Portal

Putting you in control

CLINICAL TRIALS

Research conducted by JLT suggests that the current methods available for purchasing clinical trials insurance are time consuming, inefficient and a minefield to manage effectively.

Working in partnership with HDI-Gerling, a world leader in the provision of clinical trials insurance and part of the third largest insurance group in Germany, JLT has created a Clinical Trials Insurance Portal (CTIP) that revolutionises the purchasing and management of clinical trials cover. Through a state of the art web application clients can obtain instant quotes and documentation, access to past and present trials 24 hours per day and exclusive preferential rates.

This revolutionary approach to the purchasing and management of Clinical Trials cover puts you in control. The application has a number of key features and benefits:

Key features

- Intuitive system that uses internet protocols - does not require any local software
- Instant provision of quotation and documentation*
- Management information and the ability to integrate with existing systems
- Tiered access - set different levels of access for users
- Audit trails and access for full trial duration
- Quality support service, including expert knowledge of clinical trial insurance requirements, customs and practices around the world

Benefits

- The system is quick and easy to use saving valuable time and delay to commencing trial
- More attractive premiums can be achieved through our exclusive preferential rates
- No limitations to the period of insurance
- Policy documentation and certification produced in local language
- Ownership and control – 24/7 access to all past and present trials with the ability to make alterations and immediately obtain revised documentation
